WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Fully aware that President Roosevelt's proposal to enlarge the supreme court is unpopular on Capitol Hill, administration leaders today adopted the strategy of delaying a vote on it in either branch of Congress until sentiment "back home" can be created in its favor.

The President was reported to have told congressional visitors in his recent conferences that he expected farm and labor organizations to support his judicial reforms. He plainly intimated he believed this support was necessary to get his program through Congress.

All the influence of the Democratic national organization also will be thrown into action to keep party senators and representatives in line for the President's plan.

Protests in Great Majority
This activity was evidenced in the flood of congressional mail on the issue. At first members of Congress were inundated with protests against the plan. Over the week-end letters began reaching the capitol from labor leaders and party workers, urging support of the Presidential (Continued on Page Eleven)PA NEW

Quite a large area was burned over along the Harlansburg road, just beyond the old Lehigh Portland Cement plant Saturday evening when grass and brush was set afire. Residents of the North Hill, particularly those residing along Delaware avenue, could see the blaze plainly. It was finally beaten out by residents of the district affected.

Motorists had to battle a regular blizzard Sunday afternoon and evening, driving conditions being extremely difficult. The snow melted at first, and then froze, covering everything with a sheet of ice. Driving conditions were still bad this morning on some of the hillside streets which were not ashed.

With the sudden change in temperature, automobile driving was especially hazardous, Sunday night. Highways throughout the county were covered with a glass like coating. Numerous North Hill residents who came downtown early yesterday afternoon, were stranded on Highland avenue hill, unable to ascend due to the treacherous ice, until the hill was ashed. The Youngstown hill was another stumbling block for huge trucks as well as vehicles until the ashing crews got busy. Several cars landed in ditches along highways.

Coatesville Girl(International News Service)
COATESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 15.—With newly uncovered evidence pointing to kidnapping by a white slave ring, Coatesville police officials and civic leaders today solicited the aid of G-men in unraveling the baffling disappearance of 16-year-old Helen Moyer.

The pretty high school sophomore has been missing since last Thursday. The finding of her tattered school books and her shoes and stockings near the fragments of a broken automobile headlight led state troopers to express the theory the girl was killed by a hit-and-run motorist who carried off her body with the intention of hiding it.

Ask G-Men's Aid
Captain Ralph Williams, of the Coatesville police, was among the signers of a telegram requesting J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to have G-men track down the kidnapping theory. "Evidence points to kidnapping," the telegram said. It added: "State and local police are following all evidence and clues but have reached an impasse. Community (Continued on Page Two)Thousands Go

DETROIT, Feb. 15.—While long-idle machinery hummed a cheerful tune to an army of jobless returning back at higher wages today, General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union mapped final plans for the start of negotiations tomorrow under last week's strike truce.

The erstwhile strike-bound corporation had its back-to-work movement in full swing today as thousands of workers for GM and allied industries went back on the nation's payrolls. Some had been jobless more than two months; a great number for more than a month during the "million dollar a day" strike. The company expects to have all of its 69 plants going full blast again within two weeks, and have 100,000 auto workers back on the job by tomorrow.

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 15.—The roar of machinery in long idle factories partially drowned out the labor strife in this industrial city today.

But with the people still under military rule as the result of Friday night's rioting, a rumble of discontent could still be heard, and some feared it presaged a new storm.

11,500 Return To Jobs
The militia still patrolled the streets today as 11,500 workers returned to their jobs in the Delco-Remy and Guide Lamp plants of the General Motors Corporation.

And many of the union men among them were bitter at the intervention of the soldiers.

Victor Reuther, organizer for the United Automobile Workers, last night telegraphed directly to President Roosevelt to intervene in the dispute.

Incensed over the detention of thirteen union members seized by the soldiers after the rioting, Reuther demanded they be turned over to civil authorities for trial.

Probes May Develop
There was also a distinct possibility that the situation here might result in a congressional investigation. Members of John L. Lewis' committee of industrial organization were reported pressing for an inquiry by LaFollette's senatorial civil liberties committee and on the other side of the fence full reports were forwarded to Sen. Rush D. Holt who is planning to seek an investigation of the CIO.

Some observers, however, were optimistic that the entire trouble would simmer down and be forgotten as the men go back to work and the wheels in the factories start humming once more. They believed that the non-unionists in the plants would eventually accept the Detroit agreement without protest.

"Kiss me mom," she said. An instant later she sank back on the pillow, sound asleep. That was the morning of February 15, 1932, and from that day to this Patricia Maguire has been locked in unbroken slumber.

Today marks the beginning of the sixth year of her strange sleep and she is no closer to awakening than when she first was stricken.

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 15.—Blood stains found freely scattered over the walls of the Bertillon room in the Fayette county courthouse were those of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotelkeeper, the jury trying State Trooper Stanley Gundersman for Monaghan's death was told today.

P. C. Buckmaster, a Pittsburgh chemist who has participated in the solution of many police cases, said of the 159 stains he examined 35 were not those of human blood and the remainder were all type "O."

To Climax Testimony
Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, the special prosecutor, was to climax Buckmaster's testimony with statements of expert witnesses that this was the type of Monaghan's blood.

Dr. Herbert L. Lund, Uniontown pathologist who conducted the two autopsies on Monaghan's bloody battered body, said the blood of County Detective John C. Wall, whom Monaghan slashed, was found on Monaghan's clothing. Margiotti has charged that Monaghan was deliberately beaten to death out of revenge for Wall's cutting which did not prove to be fatal.

Type "O" blood was found on the clothing of State Trooper Anthony Sanute, among the six other men indicted for murder along with Gundersman, Buckmaster said. Type "O" blood was found on Sanute's white trousers and on the left shoe worn by Gundersman that night, Buckmaster testified.

Considered Significant
Buckmaster said he did not find any blood stains on the top side of a rug in the Bertillon room but found a large spot on the underside. This was considered significant since Margiotti has charged the torture chamber was "prepared" for (Continued on Page Two)Kent, Ohio, Man

LOYALIST SPAIN IN CRISIS

Rebels Launch Big Offensive

Spain's Civil War Is Believed To Be Nearing Its Final Stages

EIGHTH MONTH OF WARFARE STARTING

(BULLETIN)

MADRID, Feb. 15.—Loyalist Spain faced its greatest peril of the civil war, entering its eighth month today, when rebels launched a powerful new offensive to surround the capital completely.

With insurgent forces also advancing from the south and east, inflicting hundreds of casualties on the loyalists, the Madrid defense Junta demanded that general conscription be imposed immediately and a unified command appointed for a last supreme effort to save the leftist regime.

Driving down the Madrid-Zaragoza highway northeast of Guadalajara, a rebel division of 15,000 men has taken the village of Remedios, north of Cifuentes, according to insurgent reports. Its aim is to form a junction with the army from southeast of Madrid at Alcalá de Henares, choking off all Madrid's outside communications.

Highway Under Fire
The main highway from Madrid to Valencia remains passable today, but miles of it are under constant machine-gun and artillery fire, and the loyalists are slowly being pushed back along a 35-mile front from Aranjuez to the Casa De Campo sector.

After a bitter fight near Arganda, the rebels announced they occupied the heights between Vaciamadrid and Arganda, commanding a wide sweep of the plain stretching away from the Jarama river.

A communique issued by the Madrid defense council, however, said costly rebel attempts to shake the republicans in their positions southeast of Madrid failed. Simultaneously the loyalists launched a counter-offensive northwest of Madrid to relieve pressure on the Arganda sector.

"Rebel forces made important advances west of the Jarama river," said an insurgent communique at Salamanca. "All leftist counter-attacks were repulsed."

"After the attack on Ussera, the nationalists (rebels) buried 116 dead loyalists, including a woman officer. On the Carabanchel front (five miles south of Madrid) we buried 88 loyalist dead, including children 13 and 14 years old armed for battle."

aroused. Suspect child taken either to Delaware or Maryland. Working day and night on case. We urge your immediate attention."

The theory the girl was "spirited away by a white-slave ring" was first advanced by Burgess Charles Jeffries, of Modena, where the girl lived with her parents.

Believed Alive
"I am satisfied she is alive," Jeffries said. "We have searched the surrounding country thoroughly. I doubt she was struck by an automobile."

Helen's father, Absalom, an attendant at the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Coatesville, and Corporal C. M. Ross, of the State Highway Patrol, today reiterated their belief the girl was killed by a motorist.

Meanwhile, feeling was running high in Coatesville and Modena. Residents aiding in the search were seen to pack rifles and shotguns in their cars.

Groups of citizens and police, aided by an airplane, were continuing their vain search of nearby woods and fields.

Garages throughout Chester county also were being searched for a green truck that figures in an accident near where the girl's shoes and school books were found. It is feared the driver of the truck may have been drunk, that he killed the girl accidentally and put her body into the truck, planning to dispose of it.

St. Patrick's three other names were Succat, Cothraigh and Maguin.

tional church, who contributed three special numbers during the service. Led by John M. Evans, its director, and accompanied by Mrs. Evans, the choir sang, at intervals, "Guide Me, Oh Thou Great Jehovah," "Lead Kindly Light" and "Great, God of Wonder and of Praise."

Speakers Heard
Attorney Frank spoke first as a representative of the Jewish community and he was followed by Mr. Maher, speaking for the Catholics. Judge Braham, the Protestant spokesman, was heard last.

Midway in the service a group of men from different churches lifted an offering which is to be sent to the National Conference of Jews and Christians to promote the good-will work among all faiths.

All speakers last night voiced one thought—the thought that all men, regardless of religious beliefs, are brothers. Each asked in his own way this which Attorney Frank asked: "In the words of the Israelitish prophet Malachi, I ask of you all, have we not all one Father? Hath not one God created us all?"

"No matter," Attorney Frank continued. "What a man's race, his color or his creed, men are brothers. Why then should man ever deal treacherously with his brother and thereby profane the covenant of our fathers?"

Judge Braham and Mr. Maher voiced those identical thoughts—and all the speakers called for a realization of the noble heights of good will, mutual fellowship tolerance and brotherly love. Too often, they reminded these heights are but piously described.

The "Brotherhood Day" rally was one of hundreds to be held throughout the nation yesterday under the direction of local groups.

Representing the ministerial association here as the "Brotherhood Day" committee on arrangements were Dr. Winger, chairman; Rabbi Norman H. Diamond of Temple Israel and the Rev. Merrill Cadwell, assistant pastor at the First Christian church.

Many congregations dispensed with their services last night for the special observance at Senior high.

We have been spending most of our time lately trying to figure out the cross word puzzles in the way of the different tax blanks.

If we had some kind of a tax that people could pay without filling out blanks, that most of the government experts don't understand themselves, it would lighten the burden of our now already burdensome taxes.

Our state taxes are driving good people to other states; our government taxes are going to drive a lot of good people to other countries. But, with a few more taxes, and especially ones to go backwards and tax you in former years or fine you for employing people, in place of having them on relief, will soon give positions to all of the American people over 16 years of age, and then no one will have to worry about making out tax reports, as all those making good money and being sure of it are exempted.

WE DO NOT LEND OR RENT OUR CHAIRS. THEY ARE FOR FUNERAL WORK ONLY.

HAVE YOU THE UTMOST FAITH IN YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR?

"I don't think negotiations will take long," William S. Knudsen, GMC executive vice-president, has said.

Possibility developed that requests for a 5-cent an hour premium for all night workers may be among the new demands of the UAW. Seven auto unions here Sunday approved the plan, according to Richard T. Frankenstein, UAW organizer.

"We already have that system in effect at the Chrysler plant," he said.

Monaghan and that some of the furnishings were removed and later replaced.

J. W. Rice of Bucknell University, a pathologist, told of finding human blood on the walls and mattress of a cot in the Bertillon room on which Monaghan allegedly gazed out his last breath.

George Croft, a Uniontown photographer, identified for the jury 150 "closeups" of blood stains he photographed on the walls. Some contained encrusted human hairs.

William Penwick of Brownsville, testified he saw Monaghan about 12:30 on the morning of September 12, when he died, in a restaurant. He said the man appeared to be of "normal sobriety" and that there was no blood on his clothing but that he was not close enough to observe whether Monaghan was drunk.

Skirmish Over Technicalities

Skirmishing over technicalities opened the second week of the trial. The first witness, Albert Opperman, Uniontown engineer who drew sketches of the Bertillon room, was recalled for cross-examination by John J. Duggan, Jr., chief defense counsel.

Duggan sought to show through Opperman that the floor in the lavatory adjoining the Bertillon room was level and that it would have been impossible for reddish water to collect, as testified by Harry Trimble, Negro courthouse janitor.

Trimble said he thought the floor

LOYALIST SPAIN IN CRISIS

Rebels Launch Big Offensive

Spain's Civil War Is Believed To Be Nearing Its Final Stages

(BULLETIN)

MADRID, Feb. 15.—Loyalist Spain faced its greatest peril of the civil war, entering its eighth month today, when rebels launched a powerful new offensive from the northeast designed to surround the capital completely.

With insurgent forces also advancing from the south and east, inflicting hundreds of casualties on the loyalists, the Madrid defense Junta demanded that general conscription be imposed immediately and a unified command appointed for a last supreme effort to save the leftist regime.

Driving down the Madrid-Zaragoza highway northeast of Guadalajara, a rebel division of 15,000 men has taken the village of Renales, north of Cifuentes, according to insurgent reports. Its aim is to form a junction with the army from the southeast at Alcalá de Henares, choking off all Madrid's outside communications.

Highway Under Fire
The main highway from Madrid to Valencia remains passable today, but miles of it are under constant machine-gun and artillery fire, and the loyalists are slowly being pushed back along a 35-mile front from Aranjuez to the Casa De Campo sector.

After a bitter fight near Arganda, the rebels announced they occupied the heights between Vaciamadrid and Arganda, commanding a wide sweep of the plain stretching away from the Jarama river.

A communique issued by the Madrid defense council, however, said costly rebel attempts to shake the republicans in their positions southeast of Madrid failed. Simultaneously the loyalists launched a counter-offensive northwest of Madrid to relieve pressure on the Arganda sector.

"Rebel forces made important advances west of the Jarama river," said an insurgent communique at Salamanca. "All leftist counter-attacks were repulsed."
"After the attack on Uxera, the nationalists (rebels) buried 116 dead loyalists, including a woman officer. "On the Carabanchel front (five miles south of Madrid) we buried 38 loyalist dead, including children 13 and 14 years old armed for battle."

aroused. Suspect child taken either to Delaware or Maryland. Working day and night on case. We urge your immediate attention."
The theory the girl was "spirited away by a white-slave ring" was first advanced by Burgess Charl Jeffries, of Modena, where the girl lived with her parents.

Believed Alive
"I am satisfied she is alive," Jeffries said. "We have searched the surrounding country thoroughly. I doubt she was struck by an automobile."

Helen's father, Absalom, an attendant at the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Coatesville, and Corporal C. M. Ross, of the State Highway Patrol, today reiterated their belief the girl was killed by a motorist.

Meanwhile, feeling was running high in Coatesville and Modena. Residents aiding in the search were seen to pack rifles and shotguns in their cars.

Groups of citizens and police, aided by an airplane, were continuing their vain search of nearby woods and fields.

Garages throughout Chester county also were being searched for a green truck that figures in an accident near where the girl's shoes and school books were found. It is feared the driver of the truck may have been drunk, that he killed the girl accidentally and put her body into the truck, planning to dispose of it.

St. Patrick's three other names were Succat, Cothraigh and Magonus.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT MEETING

tional church, who contributed three special numbers during the service. Led by John M. Evans, its director, and accompanied by Mrs. Evans, the choir sang, at intervals, "Guide Me, Oh Thou Great Jehovah," "Lead Kindly Light" and "Great God of Wonder and of Praise."

Speakers Heard
Attorney Frank spoke first as a representative of the Jewish community and he was followed by Mr. Maher, speaking for the Catholics. Judge Braham, the Protestant spokesman, was heard last.

Midway in the service a group of men from different churches lifted an offering which is to be sent to the National Conference of Jews and Christians to promote the good will work among all faiths.

All speakers last night voiced one thought—the thought that all men, regardless of religious beliefs, are brothers. Each asked in his own way this which Attorney Frank asked: "In the words of the Israelitish prophet Malachi, I ask of you all, have we not all one Father? Hath not one God created us all?"

"No matter," Attorney Frank continued. "What a man's race, his color or his creed, men are brothers. Why then should man ever deal treacherously against his brother and thereby profane the covenant of our fathers?"

Judge Braham and Mr. Maher voiced those identical thoughts—and all the speakers called for a realization of the noble heights of good will, mutual fellowship, tolerance and brotherly love. Too often, they reminded these heights are but pleasingly described.

The "Brotherhood Day" rally was one of hundreds to be held throughout the nation yesterday under the direction of local groups.

Representing the ministerial association here as the "Brotherhood Day" committee on arrangements were Dr. Wingard, chairman, Rabbi Norman H. Diamond of Temple Israel and the Rev. Merrill Cadwell, assistant pastor at the First Christian church.

Many congregations dispensed with their services last night for the special observance at Senior high.

We have been spending most of our time lately trying to figure out the cross word puzzles in the way of the different tax boxes. If we had some kind of a tax that people could pay without filling out blanks, that most of the government experts don't understand themselves, it would lighten the burden of our now already burdensome taxes.

Our state taxes are driving good people to other states; our government taxes are going to drive a lot of good people to other countries. But with a few more taxes, and especially ones to go backwards and tax you in former years or fine you for employing people, in place of having them on relief, will soon give positions to all of the American people over 16 years of age, and then no one will have to worry about making out tax reports, as all those making good money and being sure of it are exempted.

CASTLETON SCENE OF INITIATION CEREMONY

Yesterday, February 14, St. Valentine's Day, was marked by an impressive event, when members of the Junior Business and Professional Women's club gathered in The Castleton for their initiation ceremony. Miss Lucille Emery, chairman of the membership committee, was in charge of arrangements.

The affair was carried out most impressively, breakfast being served shortly after 9 o'clock at banquet tables attractively decorated in the holiday motif. The large bouquet of red and white flowers which adorned the center, claimed much attention. Other details of the same theme, completed the setting, including unique place cards.

Following, nine new members were conducted through the initiation ceremony by the president, Sylvia Lee Martin, the candle lighting service being used. In the group of new associates were Mildred Layton, Betty Ramsey, Betty Driggs, Dorothy Blim, Pauline Boober, Becky Carson, Dorothy Sankey, Evelyn Raney and Betty O'Donnell.

Final plans for the dinner-dance for club members and their boy friends were also completed. It is dated for March 19 and will take place in the Hotel Ohio, Youngstown, O. The committee in charge comprises Betty Carson, Betty Ramsey and Betty O'Donnell.

Mrs. George J. Cather and Helen Woods will be co-hostesses at the next assembly of the executive board, February 22, at a prominent tea room. The next regular meeting for the Junior B. P. W. falls on March 2.

FIELD CLUB MEMBERS HAVE VALENTINE DANCE

The ballroom of the New Castle field club was colorfully decorated to welcome "Dan Cupid" Saturday evening with huge red hearts on down to tiny ones. These, combined with flowers, bows and arrows and cupid, formed a perfect setting for their club Valentine dance.

A good attendance marked the occasion, and adding to the evening's pleasure was a splendid program of melodious music contributed by a popular orchestra. Dancing was in vogue from 9:30 o'clock on.

Valentine decorations were used, and the banquet table was set off with candle lighting effects. A dainty corsage of tea roses was pinned on the bride by Mrs. Jenkins, during the early part of the evening.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE HEARS MISS GULLAN

Before an audience which filled the auditorium of the First Christian church, Miss Marjorie Gullan, chairman of the Speech Institute, London, England, gave her second recital Sunday afternoon. This was preceded with an organ recital by Mary Virginia Patterson and a vocal number by Monas Harlan, both well known local artists.

Mrs. R. F. Roberts introduced Miss Gullan, who gave a series of Bible and religious readings, deeply appreciated by her audience.

Miss Gullan's fascinating personality and thoughtful interpretation combines to make her a real artist of outstanding ability. Her selections included prophetic, lyric, and dramatic excerpts from the Bible as well as suitable portions of other sacred books.

Through the sponsorship of the P. E. O. Sisterhood, New Castle people have been privileged to hear Miss Gullan, whose knowledge and leadership in choral speaking and speech training in the English speaking countries, possibly in the entire world.

At 6:15 the guests were invited to the dining room where a delicious buffet dinner was enjoyed. Informality was the keynote of the evening and everyone present enjoyed to the utmost the opportunity of meeting the honor guests on this occasion.

Twenty-two members of the Sisterhood were present and other special guests included Dr. Gyla McDowell of Geneva college, Miss Anna R. Perry and Mrs. Bessie Rummel of this city.

Those in charge of the dinner arrangements were Mrs. I. M. Henley, Mrs. Grace Platt, Mrs. S. E. Irvine, Mrs. Earl Dart and Miss Maude Young.

The annual business meeting will be held on Friday evening, February 19, at the home of Miss Olivia Griffiths, West Washington street.

Entertainers informally, Miss Donna Lang, Highland avenue, provided an interesting evening of entertainment for members of the White Room girls of Shenango Pottery.

Bingo was the diversion, prizes going to Ann Burno and Johanna Bodendorfer. Music and popular songs were additional pleasures, with Ann Burno at the piano. An exchange of comic Valentines followed.

Refreshments were served at a suitable hour. Valentine favors marking the guest's places.

Shenango Next foe For New Wilmington

Game Scheduled For Shenango
Hardwood On Tuesday Evening

Whether or not New Wilmington high has a chance to win section 21 race depends on Tuesday evening's assignment when the college town's invaders East New Castle to do battle with the rugged Shenango township high school quintet.

In one of the most exciting battles of the season Shenango high lost a heart-breaking 27-26 decision to the league-leading Bessemer passers last Friday evening. The Shenango hoopers were in the ball game until the final 10 seconds when Caldoraro converted a free toss. While Shenango dropped, New Wilmington high continued its impressive playing by recording a triumph over the powerful Wampum high five to remain in the thick of the fight for honors.

At the start of the season New Wilmington wasn't conceded a chance in the race. The college towners started out raggedly and were almost counted out, when they commenced to gain impetus. First it was a surprise victory over Bessemer that started the ball rolling. New Wilmington followed up with a startling triumph over Mt. Jackson basketballers and last Friday tossed the Wampumites, another favorite. Today one game separates New Wilmington and Bessemer, with a New Wilmington-Bessemer game coming up.

Shenango has been developing rapidly and has caused considerable trouble to the entire league. The East New Castle lads have lost quite a number of close affairs.

While a Posen, Poland, peddler was driving a former cavalry horse near the Uhlan barracks a trumpet sounded and Dobbin raced into the military reservation and took his place at the head of the regiment.

Hughes One Rich Boy Making Good

Airplane Achievements
Show That Some Young
Men With Riches
Can Do Things

SMALL TALKERS
BADLY NEEDED

By O. O. MCINTYRE
NEW YORK, Feb. 15—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's diary:—What flair the Negro has for simile! M. recalled a cook out in Ohio who estimated an interval of time with "Bout as long as it takes a fish to swim across a nickel dipper." And my Dad's Old Hannibal: "Up-pity as a country town baggage agent!"

It is nice to go Continental now and again. For breakfast: Just a flaky yellow brioché and a steaming glass of chocolate chaud. The petit déjeuner idea. Nothing more. A recent walk about hogshead cheese brot from Lottie Miles of the Kansas City Union Station.

And with all the glossy confections I doubt if any excels the taste of the old fashioned chocolate drop out of a paper sack. Strange how a man acquires an affection for some particular bit of wearing apparel. I cling to a faded sweater vest. Patched, elbow sprung, cuff shaggy.

In the shower of gifts descending on Major Bowes, he often sends over what he calls a "dividend"—a snafle of cheese, a jar of honey, or a hamper of grapefruit. Today came some apples, like the hogshead cheese from Missouri. The gift of the governor, who raises them.

Howard Hughes has done much to atone for many of the rich young wastrels. His airplane achievements show he has what his polite and pat phrasing uncle Rupert Hughes might call "viscera." Sneerers may say Hughes is rich and has money to buy the best planes, but even the better sort buckle up. And Hughes who knows this so well, had the courage to dare. Too, he's a fiction type hero. Flashes easily, and has that engaging shyness of the almost totally deaf. Blushing is a strange pathological phenomenon. I have a super-worshipful friend in whom I can always chivy a scarlet burst. By merely mentioning among strangers he blushes. They all look at him and he responds with a bonfire glow. Rather mean but stacks of fun.

Gertrude Lawrence is, to my eye, one of the rather homely women who always appears dazzling. Analyzed, she has a few points of pulchritude but as an ensemble she is striking. It may be the dash she gives her clothes, her carriage or the jaunty toss of the head. Even her figure is too scrawny to be linked with graceful form. Anyway she proves that feminine looks are not everything. "It" plays a sizable part. I've always thought one of New York's handsomest ladies is the wife of Robert Rubin, the film executive. Too, I like the type of wide-eyed youthful beauty expressed by Will and Betty Roger's Roger's Mary. Au contraire! I'm getting fed up with pretty men, the Robert Taylors and Tyrone Powers, in the movies, more masculinity and less beauty. More Wallace Beerys.

The informality of Martha Deane's radio talks is to my thinking one of the delightful interludes on the air. To gab away as Martha does, repeat, fumble back and fill and punctuate it all with surprise inflections may be acting or naive. I don't know. But it's mighty engaging. I've always hoped the busy Kathleen Norris could be snared for broadcasting. And talk just as she does at informal gatherings with friends. She can take the most trivial topic and make it appear exciting and pithy. This festooning of the trivial is a rare writing gift. Booth Tarkington can do it with a "loose tooth." We need more "small talkers" and "small writers." The biggies too often wrestle with the ponderous.

My nicotine-soaked hide must finally be dried out—or the years make me cantankerous. I loved tobacco in all forms and indulged each to excess. Then in sudden seizure quit. And today I find myself annoyed when a room fills with smoke. I cannot imagine why I was ever thoughtless. I even glare at a nearby diner when he lights a cigar in the midst of my meal. I'll probably wind up one of the joy-killing fogies who putter about town, snatching cigarettes from ladies' lips.

I like what Edith Sitwell says about poetry's change of pace. It may float like a swan, march with pomp of waves, sigh a little air among the ruins, flutter like the dark nightingale seeking nest among old leaves. Or it may rush like a tornado sweeping doom before it. Soon we shall have a rush of poetry finely spun and pappy to the triumphant burst we know as Spring-ia. As Kin Hubbard used to say, Spring brings out the sap. And two doors above is the poet lady, petite, who is already nibbling a pencil and gazing dreamily and clutching for something new in the way of quatrains to lyricize a walking earth. Something fresh and sparkling like the mistiness of a dewy rose.

Your Income Tax In A Nutshell

No. 18
LOSSES FROM CASUALTIES,
THEFT AND WAGERS
To be deductible, a loss arising from "fires, storms, shipwrecks or other casualty" need not be connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. If his home or his automobile is destroyed by fire, or his summer bungalow damaged by flood or storm, he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in trade or business. Hence, the loss occasioned by the theft of jewelry or an automobile used for pleasure and convenience is deductible. It must be established, however, that the property actually was stolen. Should circumstances attending the loss leave the owner in doubt as to whether it was stolen or lost, the claim would not be allowed.

Losses from wagering transactions are allowable only to the extent of the gains from such transactions. A loss is deductible only in the year in which it is sustained, even though, as in the case of a theft or casualty, it may not be discovered until a later year. Losses compensated for by insurance or otherwise, of course, are not deductible. However, in the event the amount of insurance is not sufficient to recompense for the loss sustained, the excess of the loss over the amount of the insurance is deductible.

In general, losses for which an amount may be deducted for income tax purposes must be evidenced by closed and completed transactions, fixed by identifiable events, bona fide and actually sustained during the taxable period for which claimed. For instance, a person possessing stock of a corporation cannot deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss merely on account of shrinkage in value of such stock through fluctuation of the market or otherwise. The loss allowable in such cases is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of. If stock of a corporation becomes worthless, its cost or other basis is deductible by the owner for the taxable year in which the stock becomes worthless, provided a satisfactory showing is made of its worthlessness. A loss on account of stock becoming worthless is deductible only for the taxable year in which the stock becomes worthless and not for any other year, regardless of the fact that there may not be income for the year in which the stock becomes worthless against which to apply such loss.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

No Senator Can Take Court Post

Would Have To Resign Before Vote Was Taken To Be Eligible To Accept Appointment

ROBINSON AND WAGNER CITED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Two or three members of congress (Senators Robert F. Wagner of New York and Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, especially) are mentioned as likely appointees to the federal supreme bench if President Roosevelt's plan for an increase in the court's membership, up to a total of 15, is endorsed by the lawmakers.

But no senator or representative who votes for the increase will be eligible for appointment under the readjustment.

It is well established that a legislator who casts his ballots to create an office cannot legally accept that office after it has been created.

Therefore, unless Senators Wagner and Robinson, as well as other judicial aspirants now in congress, resign before a vote is taken on the presidential proposition, it is safe to say that their names may be scratched from the list of appointive possibilities.

CANNOT BENEFIT

They know, if other folk do not, that they cannot take jobs they have been influential in providing for ANYONE or in profiting by pay increases that they have lobbied for.

Thus, supposing that Senators Wagner and Robinson support the president's supreme court program, the conclusion is that neither is a supreme court candidate.

For that matter, it would be embarrassing for either Wagner or Robinson to resign from the senate right now, and THEN accept a supreme court appointment. To say the least, it would be pretty conspicuous. Robinson might not care; Wagner would, one would think.

PENSION TOO LATE?

Federal supreme justices are on strike, in a way, against their retirement.

Suppose a supreme court judge, on a $20,000 annual salary, retires. He retires on a salary of nothing. Naturally he does not like to retire. Congress may vote him a pension—or it may not. I cannot blame him for hesitating to take chances.

Now he is being voted a guaranteed pension, but it is rather belated.

FINANCIAL REASONS?

Supreme court justices are accused of hanging on from pure cussedness.

Perhaps it isn't that.

Perhaps they hang on, knowing that they are superannuated, because they simply have to, for financial reasons.

Two Big Rivers To Be Surveyed, May Build Canal

Hope To Divert Scioto And Sandusky Rivers Into Lake Erie Drainage

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Army engineers would conduct a survey of the Sandusky and Scioto rivers with a view to construction of a canal designed to divert flood waters of the Scioto into Lake Erie, under a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Lamneck (D) of Ohio.

The Scioto has already been surveyed, Lamneck said, but the new survey is to be carried forward. The proposed canal would be built in the upper watershed of the two rivers, according to Lamneck.

"Such a canal," he said, "would enable us to divert water into Lake Erie from the Scioto in time of flood, thus preventing a large body of water from pouring into the Ohio river."

The bill was referred to the House flood control committee. Lamneck said he anticipated no difficulty in securing its passage.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

FAIRFIELD

Do you know that what is known as the Thaddeus Stevens "tape worm" may be found about three miles from Fairfield in Adams county?

The Thaddeus Stevens "tape worm" is an old, unfinished railroad, so-called because of the extremely winding course which it followed in order to make the grades to the crest of South Mountain and because Stevens was the chief promoter of the enterprise.

When the railroad was nearly completed the state withdrew support and the plans were withdrawn. At this point in the road are two viaducts built to permit the passage of two streams of water under the road bed, remarkable for their perfect state of preservation after 100 years.

Famous Elm Tree Is Chopped Down At Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—A giant elm tree which once shaded George Washington and other patriots in Independence Square was missing from the historic grounds today.

Condemned as a menace to pedestrians because of its decayed state, the 172-year-old tree was chopped down by WPA ax wielders. H. H. Maxwell, chief city tree surgeon, said the old tree was the oldest in the square. It had leaned over the sidewalk at a 45 degree angle for the past few years.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Can't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adierka. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."
—Mrs. Jas. Filler.
Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierka gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas, pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.
Dr. H. L. Shoup, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and constipation. Eckerd's

TRI-COUNTY COUNCIL BANQUET IN APRIL

Tri-county council, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will have a banquet in April for the department president, Mrs. Twila Bolt, of Sharon, and Department Commander Burket of Altoona.

Tentative plans for the occasion, which will be outstanding, were made at the council meeting held in this city on the evening of February 12 in the Legion Home.

The new president, Mrs. Cecil White, of Sharon, was in charge, and in addition to discussing the banquet arrangements were also outlined for a three dinner meeting which will precede the regular meeting falling on the second Friday in March, in New Castle.

When the business was concluded a patriotic program was enjoyed, under the supervision of Mrs. Gertrude Seger, Americanism chairman. An outline follows: song, "Dixie-land", assembly, with Mrs. Twila Bolt, accompanist; greetings, Mrs. Cecil White, president; address, "Life of Lincoln", T. John Stoner, tri-county council commander.

Spanish War Veterans Observe Anniversary Of Sinking Of Maine

Saturday night's banquet of the Spanish-American War Veterans held at the Legion Home on North Jefferson street, was one of the most enjoyable held in years, and was largely attended by many of the members of the organization and their families.

In the absence of Clyde E. Green, who was ill, C. H. Young officiated at toastmaster and carried off the honors in a very able manner. The evening's entertainment was complete with pleasing features. The banquet in itself was a feature, consisting of turkey and all the trimmings and was served by the members of the Ladies Auxiliary and it goes without saying that it was most enjoyable.

The highlight of the occasion was a special orchestra composed of Rex Patch, L. A. Pearsall, Reed McCullough and Arch Cubbison. They were fantastically attired. Mr. Patch resembled Teddy Roosevelt and with the possible exception of size was his double. He officiated at the organ, while Reed McCullough and L. A. Pearsall, also attired to resemble soldiers of '98 performed on the violin and Archie Cubbison with enough medals on his breast to anchor a battleship, played the guitar. This quartette played all the old songs so familiar to soldiers of '98. Their program was the hit of the evening. They were ably assisted by George Muse as song and cheer leader, who put pep into the affair. Mr. Patch who was a bugler in a company in the 16th regiment, told of their reception upon their arrival in Porto Rico. He also gave the different bugle calls which are so dear to the heart of any soldier. He used the same bugle that he carried throughout the war.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Mayor Charles E. McGrath, who was a guest of honor. In a humorous vein he told of his many activities during the Spanish-American war. How, he with a few others had been instrumental in securing persons to enlist, especially Geo. Muse. He went on to relate many other instances of his patriotic acts and then wound up his remarks with the statement: "Now, don't you think that was pretty good for a nine year old boy?"

Reed McCullough sang a number of selections, his big hit being a yodel number. M. J. Howard gave a reading on the "Boys of '98," which was most pleasing.

C. W. Fenton, was listed for an address on "How We Put the Rebellion in Washington," but spoke on other interesting subjects and his stories were classics. Not to be outdone, George Muse relating how he managed to get into the army and said it required more political pull than would be required today to land a cabinet position in the Democratic party.

After the completion of the program the balance of the evening was devoted to bingo under the direction of Ida Suber, with many pretty prizes for the winners.

Taking it all in all, the banquet was the most successful held in years and much credit is due the committee having it in charge and which was composed of Rex Patch, M. J. Howard and C. Ed Brown.

The affair was the annual Maine Day banquet which all soldiers who served in '98 observe, it being the anniversary of the sinking of the Battleship Maine in Manila harbor with a heavy loss of life of those aboard, and which event finally led up to the war with Spain.

ARREST AUTO DRIVER

Corporal Keck, state highway patrol, reported today the arrest of a man who gave the name of Joe Luton, East Pasadena avenue, Youngstown, on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated Saturday. He was arrested on route 422 near New Bedford. He was committed to jail pending a hearing before Squire Pearsall some time today.

Central Christian Leads Sunday School Contest

The "Gold Rush" marches on, with an additional 143 gold nuggets accumulated by the ten participating Sunday schools yesterday, or a total of 320 gold nuggets for the first two Sundays of the campaign which closes Easter Sunday, March 28th.

Nine out of the ten Sunday schools have had an increase over the average attendance for last year and have stored up nuggets of the precious metal. The Central Christian Sunday school leads with a total of 93 nuggets for the two Sundays.

The following is the standing of the ten Sunday schools:

The best gain in attendance over the previous Sunday made by any Sunday school February 14 was by the First Christian. February 7 their attendance was only 265, but by having workers systematically work their claim they jumped into the Gold Nuggets class with an attendance of 314 yesterday. The First Christian has a unique plan which they have just gotten into operation. They have divided their Sunday school classes into two teams, the red and the blue, and they are competing to see which team can dig up the most nuggets.

Weather Change Makes Slippery Highways Sunday

With the thermometer suddenly dropping, followed by squalls of snow which formed into a glassy coating of ice, automobile driving was especially hazardous Sunday, as King Winter staged an extravaganza in the New Castle district.

Spring-like weather which has been prevalent during the past two weeks suddenly changed when a cyclonic wind ripped through the city early Sunday afternoon. Snow, which soon followed, turned into slush and then froze into a mass of ice which made driving exceedingly dangerous in town as well as on highways.

The Youngstown hill was extremely dangerous. Traffic was held up for some time when a huge truck and trailer skidded, covering the entire width of the road. The driver was successful in turning the vehicle, but did not try to drive up the treacherous stretch. In the vicinity of the Harbor, several hundred cars were lined up as highway employees cindered dangerous spots along the road. From a distance, the lights from the cars gave an appearance of a main street of a metropolitan city. Throughout the

New Castle-Youngstown highway, cars skidded from left to right, as the wind and snow combined to form a miniature blizzard.

Late last night the wind quelled down considerably and drivers found the road much safer. Highway men did a thorough job of cindering the road. Several cars were noted in ditches. Despite the hazardous condition of roads, no serious mishaps were reported.

Army Plane Passes Over City Sunday

Army Observation Ship Enroute to Cleveland Passes Over Here

Sunday morning about 10 o'clock local residents turned their eyes toward in quest of the droning sound coming from the clouds. A two-place United States army observation plane passed over the city, headed northeast towards Cleveland, O. about this time yesterday. According to pilots at the local airport, the plane is a special wartime ship, which is used for the chief purpose of observation. It is also manufactured especially for "blind flying".

As the ship did not land at the local port, nor at the Youngstown airfield, it is believed that it was headed for the Cleveland airport.

GOVERNOR'S BUDGET MESSAGE DEFERRED WEEK

Earle Confers On Fund Needs

Legislature Faces Another Quiet Week As Budget Delay Continues

EXPECT FIGURES ON FEBRUARY 22

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Gov. George H. Earle faced an apparent turning point in his fiscal dilemma today, as, with his budget message deferred another week, he conferred on the state's new PWA construction program.

Every indication pointed to another quiet legislative week, the seventh of the 132nd general assembly.

Governor Earle himself spiked reports his budget would be presented tonight with an announcement the 1937-38 finance recommendations would "positively be put in" February 22.

Drafts New Program
Meanwhile, the chief executive met with state PWA administrator G. Douglas Andrews to draft what may exceed a $65,000,000 institutional construction program for submission this week to Harold L. Ickes, federal PWA administrator.

"Our meeting today," Andrews told International News Service, "is simply a matter of bringing up to date the original program of the general state authority." One hundred thirty projects were involved under the original state authority act, first nullified and then upheld a fortnight ago by the state supreme court.

By Tuesday or Wednesday, An-draws said he hopes to place the revised program in before Ickes in Washington. He expressed the additional hope Governor Earle would accompany him on the mission, Andrews first disclosed his assignment last week to International News Service.

How Much WPA Aid?

It was the public works administration's attitude on the new program, Governor Earle said, that necessitated further delay in submission of the budget to both houses of the legislature.

Still uncertain, however, was the matter of how much WPA aid would be extended Pennsylvania, a factor for unemployment relief in the new budget. Although President Roosevelt already has promised "special treatment" for the Keystone state, the state administration held no estimate of what would be forthcoming in dollars and cents.

Flood Fund Cash Now Near $10,000

Party Receipts And Ellwood City Fund Will Swell Total To $15,000 Here

Total cash receipts which had been turned into the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, this morning totalled $9,374.57. Included in this total was a check for $50 from the Bell Telephone company.

Receipts have not yet been turned in from the benefit party held on February 5 in The Cathedral, which is expected to total over $3,000, and Ellwood City's fund has not been added to this. These two amounts will bring the total for the county to $15,000 or better, it is believed by Disaster Relief Chairman Paul F. Butz.

Telephone girls increased by more than 50,000 in the last ten years despite the dial system.

Traps His Way Through College

Youth Runs Trap Line To Pay His Way Through Ohio Wesleyan

(International News Service)

DELAWARE, O., Feb. 15.—John Voelker, sophomore at Ohio Wesleyan University, has his own ideas about working his way through school. Some students massage dishes in restaurants, while others may put in their spare hours clerking in stores, but Voelker prefers the great outdoors while making both ends meet from a financial standpoint.

On the river bank within walking distance of the campus, Voelker has set a trapping line, a hobby, which, since he started in high school, has netted him more than $1,000.

Trapping with the young collegian is an art. Instead of using meat for bait, he uses scent. He buys certain ingredients at the drug store. One mixture will lure a muskrat, another a skunk. Still another attracts skunks. Voelker specializes in muskrat.

He doesn't fool much with skunks.

AROUND CITY HALL

With spring not far distant it is likely the city fathers soon will turn their thoughts to improvement projects. During the past year petitions for paving were submitted to them and some thoroughfares were improved. However, the petitions ask for the paving of many more streets. Some projects have been approved by the WPA and others have not. It is probable that as extensive a paving program as possible will be asked by the city.

One of the proposed projects that is "up in the air" is the Big Run project. The engineers at Washington do not want the project put through unless railroad companies change their bridges. The improvement was requested by the South Side Board of Trade as one means of preventing damage from high water. The dredging of one section of the stream had considerable to do with preventing a flood recently. Absence of ice also was another factor.

It is probable that as soon as the civil service board submits an eligibility list of police to council, Mayor Charles E. McGrath will have several names to the force. Injuries and sickness during the past few months necessitated the employment of temporary officers and then the force was weak in numbers. Of 23 candidates, 10 passed the test, according to the civil service board.

It takes seven men for a government job—one to do the work and six to fill out the blanks.

They can't ALL be wrong. This medicine MUST be good. There are three critical periods in a woman's life -- when the girl matures to womanhood, when a woman gives birth to her children, and the change of life. At these periods Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proves its worth. It is also excellent for nervous, rundown housewives, tired business women, weak young girls, and irritable mothers. It quiets quivering nerves, induces restful sleep and helps Nature to restore a normal condition of health and energy.

Make Good Records In Recent Tests On Scholarship

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15.—Scoring in the upper 20 per cent of the 407 high school seniors who took part in a competitive examination for $1,050 in scholarship awards at Westminster College recently, were seven students from schools in Lawrence county.

They were Donald Lusk, Laura Keeling, E. Virginia Luer, Lorraine B. Hook, Virginia M. Ramsey and Mary E. Anderson, New Castle; and E. Bruce Johnston, New Wilmington.

If those who won scholarships fail to use them, the awards will be passed on to the next highest scorers.

Student ratings were unusually high, with the top 20 scores averaging almost twice as high a test-rate as that of average college freshmen. The highest 20 high school seniors indicated an intelligence as high as the upper one per cent of 32,044 college freshmen in the United States.

and returned to New Castle. Traci refused to accompany New Castle police to New Castle.

Later Saturday three witnesses were taken to Cleveland and it is reported by Chief Criswell Traci was identified as being one of the two men who engaged in the encounter with Dukes.

Saturday night District Attorney Mont L. Ailey prepared papers which were sent to Governor Earle at Harrisburg asking that Traci be extradited to Pennsylvania.

It was reported this morning by Chief Criswell that extradition of Perconti would also be asked. The request will probably be prepared and sent by the district attorney to Governor Earle today.

Charge Is Changed

When Pedonesi was arrested he was charged with felonious assault and battery. The charge later was changed Saturday to murder. The latter warrant had not been read to him at the county jail this morning.

The alleged encounter in which Dukes is said to have met his injuries is claimed by police to have grown out of the parking of automobiles in the 900 block of Moravia street, about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday.

After the affair Dukes was taken to the New Castle hospital. About 30 minutes later, Clarence Granis notified police of his having taken Dukes to the institution. Search was started for the assailants.

The trail led to Cleveland and arrests there and here resulted. The officers who took the witnesses to Cleveland Saturday for identification purposes were Sheriff Pritchard, his deputy, Ben Hartland, Lieutenant Kennedy and Chief of detectives Showalter of the city police department.

Chief of Police Ralph Criswell stated today that the charge of murder had been read to Pedonesi in the city jail. Both he and Sam Traci were formally charged with murder Saturday night. In addition Paul Perconti, of Cleveland, O., and Sam Santucci, of New Castle have been charged with being accessories after the fact.

Traci is in Cleveland and has refused extradition on a fugitive warrant. District Attorney Mont L. Ailey has sent extradition papers to Harrisburg and on February 18 a hearing will be held in Cleveland to determine whether or not Traci will be extradited.

Dukes was an ex-service man and was appointed to the city police force May 10, 1925.

Born In New Castle

Mr. Dukes was born in New Castle on December 20, 1895, son of John and Margaretta Jones Dukes and passed all his years here with the exception of his time of service in the World War.

He enlisted in the United States Army on December 13, 1917, and was discharged on May 14, 1919. He served overseas from June 13 1918 to April 27 of the following year, a wagoner in Company G, 208th ammunition train, and was in three different engagements.

For the past eleven years he was a member of the New Castle police force and the Fraternal Order of Police.

He leaves his wife, Catherine Elizabeth Stevens Dukes, two daughters, Vivian, aged 12 years, and Lenore Ann, 6, and the following sisters and brothers all of New Castle, Mrs. Margaret Hess, Mrs. W. A. Stritmatter, Mrs. H. A. Shaffer, W. T. J. W. and T. E. Dukes.

Funeral services will be conducted on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the residence, with Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Will Fight Extradition

Cleveland, Feb. 15.—With one Cleveland man already formally charged in New Castle, Pa., with the murder of Robert H. Dukes, New Castle policeman, detectives here today held two others, both of Cleveland, who are alleged to have participated in the beating that resulted in Dukes' death.

Arrested last night was Paul Perconti, 30, who with Sam Traci, 33, is held as a fugitive from New Castle police. Both Perconti and Traci announced they would fight extradition.

Waiving extradition, Angelo Pedonesi, 34, was taken to New Castle Saturday. He was charged with the murder of Dukes, who died of injuries received when he was beaten last Tuesday by three men.

Police said Dukes approached the car when he was in plainclothes, and asked the men what they were doing. When he was unable to identify himself as a policeman, the men beat him fatally, according to detectives here.

Pedonesi and Traci already have been identified by witnesses as two of Dukes' assailants, police said. Witnesses to the beating have not yet seen Perconti.

VOTE ON COURT PROPOSAL NGW BEING DELAYED

The protests, however, remained in the overwhelming majority, with an unusual number from women who apparently were housewives and not identified with politics.

The administration's dilatory tactics were disclosed in the action of Chairman Ashurst (D) of Arizona, of the Senate judiciary committee, in calling off today's regular session of that body. Other members had planned to discuss the President's reform bill at this session. The committee will not meet now until next Monday.

No Early Consideration

House leaders, meanwhile, disclosed they had no plans for early consideration of the President's measure. They apparently favored a long delay in consideration in hopes that the bill, permitting retirement of supreme court justices at 70 on full pay would be enacted and followed shortly by several retirements. Such an outcome, they felt, might remedy the situation which the President sought to correct by enlarging the court.

The President suffered a severe setback over the week-end when Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana, his close personal friend, an acknowledged liberal and champion of labor legislation, condemned the proposal as "fundamentally unsound, morally wrong and an attempt to set up a dictatorship." He warned: "At best the President's proposal is a mere stop-gap which establishes a dangerous precedent."

Keys Defeat House-Seniors 42-25, Gersons Best Tin Mill 33 To 19

The Keystone A. C. basketball team, first half champs of the House-Indus basketball league, maintained their same fine standard Saturday night in the league by handing the House-Seniors a pasting, 42 to 25, with Teplica, Bullano and Shook the big stars of the engagement.

Robinson and Stitzinger led the attack for the House-Seniors with 14 of the points between them.

The Gersons throttled the Carnegie-Illinois Steel team, 33 to 19, in the opening game on the menu. Cooper, Kawa and O'Brien were the scoring lights in the Gersons' lineup. For the losers the work of Hitchen and Neyman was the best.

Breezy Sport Notes Around Pennsylvania

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer.

(Pinch Hitting for Dick Shaner) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—"Ol' Man Rumor" today has loquacious Larry Kelley, Yale's published star footballer of the Williamsport Kellys, joining almost every major league baseball club. Many say St. Louis Cards will nab him to team up with the one and only "Dizzy" Dean. The tip is, however, that if the much demanded Kelley does sign a major league contract, when he finishes at Yale in June, it will be with the New York Yankees. Would old Col. Jake Ruppert let such a drawing card go by his door; not on your life, no sah!

It seems that John Henry Lewis, light-heavyweight champion, and Al Etore, Philadelphia's gift to the heavyweight class, can't reach a decision—or at least the fans, who paid to see them throw leather in their two recent matches in Philadelphia, can't. In their first fistic encounter, Etore received the close decision, but later the boxing commission of the commonwealth reversed the decision and awarded the fight to the Negro lad. In a second match, a "natural" Lewis piled on an early lead, which won him the fight, by dumping Etore on the canvas twice. Etore, however, after a disastrous first three rounds fought back in grand style and now the fans are clamoring for a rematch.

Tagged with the nickname "Little Corporal," because of his minuteness, Dominic Dallesandro of Reading, Pa., will try to prove the old

Jacobs Delays Bout Signing

Will Await Arrival Of Max Schmeling In New York Next Week

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Promoter Mike Jacobs may not be ready on Friday to close negotiations for the proposed title fight at Chicago between Champion Jim Braddock and Joe Louis, and boxing men today saw in this new angle to the heavyweight situation one important fact. Jacobs expects to wait until Max Schmeling arrives here next week before making any definite move likely to crowd the German out of the picture. Schmeling is scheduled to sail for the United States on Friday.

Few Complications In answer to the Illinois commission's demand that the Braddock-Louis bout be closed Friday, Jacobs said: "There still are some complications to be ironed out"—presumably pacifying Schmeling, who already has signed, along with Braddock, for a title fight here.

Madison Square Garden, holder of Braddock's contract, and Jacobs, with a long term lease on Schmeling, were to be co-promoters of the Braddock-Schmeling battle in June, all of which only complicates matters. Jacobs also holds Louis' contract for promotional purposes and he must satisfy everybody concerned.

Meanwhile Madison Square Garden is marking time but understood to be ready to institute a suit if necessary to halt the proposed Braddock-Louis bout.

Important Tilts In Section 21 Tuesday Night

Bessemer Will Entertain Union At Home, New Wilmington Will Play At Shenango

Bessemer high's lead in Section 21 will be jeopardized Tuesday night at their home floor with the Union high laddies appearing at the Cement City. Bessemer must win this one to stay up in front of the pack.

New Wilmington high will go to Shenango for a battle with the East New Castles and can tie for the league lead if they win and Bessemer is tripped up by Union. Mt. Jackson now out of the picture as far as the title is concerned, will play at the Wampum high court.

The only other game will be East Brook at Princeton, this is a non-W. P. I. A. L. game, but counts in the county league standing.

There will be more than just ordinary interest in the series of games Tuesday night. The race is very hot at the present time, with the New Wilmington high boys coming along at a fast clip and anxious to upset the Bessemer high reign in Section 21.

Erie Badminton Team Wins Again Over New Castle

Come To Field Club Sunday And Defeat Locals 9 To 6, Many Fine Matches

New Castle Field Club Badminton team lost another match on Sunday to the Erie Badminton team. The summary was 9 to 6. The New Castle people gave the Erieites much stiffer competition here than at Erie a week ago.

The matches were played at the badminton courts at the Field Club and the Erie people were loud in their praise of the fine New Castle court. They were also loud in their praise of the skill being shown by the Field club youngsters William "Bill" Bissell, Charles Matthews, Jr., Tom Blair, and Jack McConahy. Blair and Matthews won their matches in the men's singles. These New Castle boys will have to be reckoned with in a few years as potential champions.

Local Stars Lose

One of the slash-bangingest of the matches played was the men's doubles in which the two stars of Erie Pinckney and Loosely won from Jack Kenney and James M. Smith, Jr. The New Castle stars only after a terrifically hard played match in which the local men nearly slammed their way to victory. Two of the sets had to go extra-innings. Smith and Kenney defeated this pair at Erie last week. The local pair won out of the three games.

Matthews and McConahy looked very good in taking over Loosely and Knoblock of Erie in straight sets.

One of the real feature matches on the card was the mixed doubles in which Mrs. Shirley Emley and Brown Zahnizer of New Castle defeated Mrs. Chatain and Pinckney of Erie two out of three games by nice margins.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

A throwback to old fighting days when champions used to bet on themselves is Babe Risko, Syracuse battler who is putting up his own money to back the belief that he can win back the world's middleweight title from Freddie Steele.

Steele demanded a $25,000 guarantee to meet Risko. Madison Square Garden marked time, doubting if any money could be made for the firm with such an arrangement. Anxious for the bout, Risko, who has lost twice to Steele, put up the $25,000 himself. The Garden will turn the money over to Steele, and in return will pay Babe 60 per cent of net receipts. For Risko to break even the show must draw more than $40,000. It's doubtful if the gate will run that high.

Risko's gesture is an echo of a day when the woods were full of tough hombres who would fight you for $25,000 or two bits. They would win or lose their own purses by betting on themselves. At least that's what the old-timers tell us about gory nights when Nonpareils slapped each other around, and later when Ketchels and Papkes came along.

Some Bad Blokes.

The middleweight division always has been full of bruisers, colorful scrappers, many of whom shoved heavyweights around. Starting with the day when Jack Dempsey (the Nonpareil) knocked out George Fullam in 22 rounds in Toronto, and thumping the book right down to Freddie Steele, you find hardly a soft touch in the whole parade.

Dempsey and Fullam, by the way, were the first middleweights to use gloves. Bare knuckles had been the dish until that day in 1884. The two men were heavy driving gloves.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEFALL

Yesterday was Valentine Day but I clean forgot to wish a certain young lady or maybe I should say, ask a certain young lady to be my Valentine . . . will you be my Valentine? . . . No she doesn't live on Garfield avenue.

Went to see a fellow the other day and while I was there a very dear friend came in . . . He was a preacher and a very fine one too. As the conversation progressed, stories started to pop . . . the kind that you can tell to your mother and sweetheart. One stuck in my mind . . . Why, I don't know, maybe because Sunday was Valentine Day . . . It went like this . . . Two old maids were inmates at a home for the feeble minded . . . They were sitting on a bench in the spacious yard of the institution. One was knitting and the other was just sitting . . . The knitting one said to the other, "Mary, what are you thinking about?" Mary replied, "I was just thinking what a thrill it would be if a nice young man, about six feet tall, dark complexion and black wavy hair would come walking up the path and come over here and take me in his arm and give me a good hugging." The other answered, "Mary, now you're talking common sense, you don't belong here."

So the time passed . . . stories flowed freely and if my memory comes back . . . chances are you will be hearing more . . . I know what you are wishing.

After spending a quiet day at home in front of the fire . . . listening to the radio . . . I sometimes wonder why they permit such stuff . . . First you hear one entertainer roasting another and then before you can change the dial two are roasting one. After three hours of this I was ready for bed . . . I couldn't sleep a wink, the aroma of that roasting stuck in my nose.

Thousands Of Pheasants To Be Freed Soon

Harlansburg State Game Farm To Release About 6,000 Male Birds

SPRING RELEASE IS NEW POLICY

Distribution Begins This Month, Continues Until First Of April

Carrying out the new policy of the game commission most of the male pheasants raised on the state game farms of Pennsylvania last season were held over the winter for spring release in order that they might have the opportunity to mate in the wild and reproduce their kind before they must pass through an open hunting season.

Jordan farm at Harlansburg has between 8,000 and 9,000 ringneck and mongolian pheasants in the holding pens at the present time, from them about 2,200 hens and 500 males will be selected for breeders and the balance will be distributed in the western counties of the state between now and April 1.

Distribution will be directed by the game commission, division of research and distribution, from the Harlansburg office. Within the counties the game protectors will be in charge of the allotments.

Spring Release Success

The "spring release" plan was tried on a smaller scale last year with very satisfactory results. The kill of ringnecks in the western part of the state for the 1936 season was about 30 per cent more than the previous season's kill which is attributed to the natural mating in the wild of the 2,100 mature male birds distributed from the Jordan State Game Farm last spring. The hen pheasant being protected at all times while there is an open season on male pheasants each fall tends to unbalance the sex ratio of birds in the wild and for this reason the additional males available for liberation just prior to the mating season is especially valuable to the natural breeding of these birds in the wild.

Visitors Are Welcome

This is the season of the year just prior to the mating season, when the beautiful male ringneck is at his best in appearance, especially on a sunny day when he may strut about and display his gorgeous iridescent plumage and a visit to the state game farm near Harlansburg, where several thousand of these fine birds may be seen before shipment for liberation throughout the western end of the state, is well worth while to any sportsman or others interested in game birds.

Order Eggs Now

In past years there has been some confusion concerning obtaining pheasant eggs for hatching. This year March 15 has been set by the game commission as the deadline for the acceptance of requests for eggs for hatching, and all persons wishing to raise birds for release on unposted lands where they may be hunted, must have their requests in the hands of the game protector in charge of the county in which the birds are to be liberated, so he may get it into the Harlansburg office by March 15. Do not send requests to the farm nor come to the farm expecting to obtain eggs on application. Eggs will be distributed only on applications approved both by the game protector and the Harlansburg office.

Lincoln-Garfield Veterans To Meet

Mid-winter Reunion Planned For Thursday Night February 18 At Elks

The old boys of Lincoln-Garfield are looking forward to Thursday night, February 18, when the annual mid-winter smoker and get-together will be held in the Elks Home on North Mill street. The organization holds two reunions each year. One is held in the summer when the families get together and the mid-winter party is for the men only.

Former Lincoln-Garfield students now in other cities will be present and of the 250 invitations sent out, it is expected that about 150 will be present.

Rural Road Now Undergoing Repairs

Graceland Road, Washed Out By High Water, Now Being Rebuilt

The Graceland road between Graceland cemetery and where it emerges in the vicinity of East Brook is now being rebuilt. Part of this roadway was washed out during the heavy rains of several weeks ago and the road has been almost impassable. As the territory through which the road runs in the vicinity of East Brook is exceedingly low, the water racing down the valley took the road with it at this point.

Many tons of earth are being hauled from the hillside of East Brook to this road, where many fills are needed to put the road into first-class shape again.
